39	28/10/2017 13:00	An Other	3	B arrived for contact today but didn't come to the door to collect them. He was a bit late and sat in the car expecting them to go out. Our eldest thought something might be wrong and went out to see her dad. I could see she was upset. I went out to join them. B smelt of drink. He said he'd had a drink last night but 'only one' and he was perfectly able to drive. By this time both girls were upset and didn't want to go with off their dad. Our eldest girl was cross saying he'd promised them he would stop drinking and then he could come home. The younger one was crying. I wouldn't have let them go anyway as he'd probably had more to drink than he'd said. I told B we were back to square one and he'd let us all down again. He started to argue with me and then drove off. - Impact 3

40	01/11/2017 22:00	An Other	1	B rang me. The girls were in bed. He had obviously been drinking and said he'd lost his job as he'd been drinking at work. He said he'd 'blown it now'. He had stopped going to AA and they were all useless there and didn't understand him. He wanted to come home but I said it would never work. He needed to sort himself out. I said he could see the girls at home as long as he was sober but I didn't want them to go in the car with him until I was sure he was on the wagon again. He got cross and ended the call. - Impact 1
